

Mobile operator velcom is well known for its serious way of communication. Therefore whenwe were launching our new mobile sub-brand for youngsters, we knew that the classic communicationwill not work for the audience. Because youngsters nowadays are living by the rules of the Internet – they are constantly creating and seeking the content that is fun, unexpected and entertaining.

And that became the philosophy of our new mobile brand lemon, too. Creating TVC that looks like a weird music video – why not? Posting videos and content that are following the viral trends – also, why not? And as long as our audience loves it, we are doing it. Just because why not?
